Valued Customer:

Loxscreen is committed to protecting the environment through the implementation of policies and procedures to ensure safe disposal of wastes generated from our manufacturing processes and through recycling of solid waste.

Our Aluminum Group uses an average of 70% recycled aluminum. Aluminum scrap, from both internal and external sources, is used to produce billet at our in-house cast facility.

Our paint line and secondary smelting facilities meet all Title V permit requirements.

Wastewater generated during our anodizing process is treated at our onsite treatment facilities. When discharged, this water meets the highest environmental standards.

In our Plastics Group, 40% of all extrusions utilize recycled plastics from both internal and external sources. Both plants meet all State and Federal environmental regulations. Internal audit teams monitor performance at all levels.

All unused cardboard and wood products are recycled.
